At Dominion Energy. Our vision is to become the most sustainable energy company in America. To do that, we need to make sure that we bring others with us on the journey. So we've made our procurement process more equitable and inclusive. We're reaching out to diverse suppliers through conferences, trade associations, advocacy groups and others. We've raised spending with diverse suppliers by double digit percentages, and we're committed to doing even more. When it comes to our commitment to working with partners and suppliers as diverse as the communities we serve,
